Where: DevBox Who: DevBox, Chris Charla (Pip) and guestsQ: I'm stuck with the "Please wait while...." dialog. When will it go away? I've been trying to do something on my Xubuntu 16.04. It's been idle (not using a single watt) for the last couple hours. And I always get this popup, that I have no idea how to avoid. Do you have any idea? A: You can get rid of the "Please wait while..." popup by clicking on the thing that is shown (not the keyboard icon, but the small blue dot). That is the "system tray". Drag the system tray to the top of the desktop, so that it's out of the way. The present invention relates to semiconductor devices and more particularly to an insulating film of a semiconductor device which has a high dielectric constant and also has a high adhesive strength between two films. In recent years, a trend is noted in which a capacitor is formed as one MIM (Metal-Insulator-Metal) type element having a small area of 1 to 2 mm square. Since this capacitor is an electronic component which is important in terms of costs, a capacitor of high reliability is demanded. To attain this, the capacitor must have characteristics to satisfy the Game Description and Openings:

- Necro Defense is a game based on strategy and survival tactics with various levels of difficulty. The goal of the game is to reach the end of the game without being killed by zombies or the time limit.
- In the beginning you can play with only 14 pieces of superweapons in the defense line and lives. It gets more difficult as you progress throughout the game.
- The critical part of the game consists in the layer defense where the zombies through a torrent of enemies attack, risking their lives to get to the vulnerable zombies and kill them.
- The strategic part of the game consists in the placement of the superweapons that allow you to place weaker point in the center of the current zombies line allowing you to destroy the line and pass to the next level.
- The game ends when the time runs out or all the lives are used.
