2 4G 3G Smartphone under INR 6,999 Pingball Got some really cool news for our readers today. We got the chance to check out the Pingball Ultra 2 smart phone in its launch here in Hyderabad. The phone, made exclusively by a Taiwanese company Pingtel, retails for INR 8,999. Oh boy! ? Just like the UI and overall design was simple and easy to use, the keyboard as well as the users app market and services are pretty good. The browser opens faster than any other third-party browsers and is speedy also. The photos and videos on the phone are way better than what we are used to. Pingball Ultra 2 is powered by a 3.2-inch WQVGA display with a 320 by 240 pixel resolution. It gets its power from an Intel Atom processor with a 1GHz clock speed and at least 512MB of RAM. The phone also has an 8GB of internal storage which is expandable to 32GB via microSD card slot. The keyboard is made up of 65,897 characters of which 94% are vowels. It only has 4849 Punctuation or keys and even then, there is no spacebar. You need an internet connection of at least 150 kbps to use this amazing phone. Well now who doesn't? ? The phone also has a built-in 2100mAh battery which delivers a talk time of up to 6 hours on 3G or 4 hours on 4G networks. You get a USB 2.0 port to connect the phone to a dongle for internet connectivity. The phone is very thin and light weighing just 119g. It comes bundled with 3G or 4G connectivity with SIM card powered by Micro-SIM. It also comes with a 3.5mm headphone jack and a 3.5mm aursound jack. The package also includes a Micro USB as a charging port and a Car charger. The camera on the phone is a 5MP, Carl Zeiss lens of which the megapixel count is vague. We did take some very nice shots on the phone and a good number of photos came out okay on the phone. My only issue was the slight delay in making the camera focus and taking the photo, but that's just me I guess. You can also print the photos and have a ready print of it in your office. Android 2.2.1

Springtime on the rolling hills of "Ducal Transylvania" The Black Plague is raging and spreading through the countryside. Vast quantities of wealth are leaving the feudal lords to go to the market towns. Particularly popular are the new silk and linen fabrics, copper and tin. The wealth of the peasantry is gathering and the people are prosperous and happy. But the Church feels threatened by this new prosperity. Many of the Count's vassals are learning to read and write and the rise of the middle class will challenge the existing order. The Church would like to know more about this and look for ways to curtail it. The challenges facing the Count begin as a simple matter of the appropriation of his estate. But progress toward that goal will require his peasants and serfs to complete tasks for him. Even though the land belongs to him, a true nobleman does not work: he wants to be occupied with all the necessary but to be idle is for a nobleman a sin. The current European social order will be challenged. The social and political conflicts will grow to enormous proportions. The nobility and the Church are driven by greed and possessiveness to a greater and greater degree and the people are only slowly beginning to understand that they too are the subjects of their own country.
