I have a very old Panasonic VL28EA which I tried to use on Win 8.1. //www.hackin gbbs.com.tw/thread-24093-1-1.html> Â· IponyÂ .Can you believe that it is already a week since graduation? I'm starting to feel that I am moving backwards. While I am slowly coming back into the routine of day-to-day life, it seems that I am taking a step back with other things. For example, I started a B.A. in the fall that I didn't plan on doing at this time. So, now that I'm back in the daily grind, I am scrambling to finish up my studies and find a job. On the other hand, I have been giving a lot of thought to my direction. After all, I know I'm still young (for my age) and there is much more I want to do in my life. But I'm starting to question whether that moment is now or if I want to wait a bit longer. While I'm more than halfway through my BA, I've heard enough about similar positions to where they are being advertised now to be able to take a look around. This has given me a lot to think about. Clearly, it is time to talk about where I want to go after my BA. So, I've come to a realization. For the first time in my life, my network is something I have to think about. In my undergrad days, you could basically get help in job hunting without having to network. I had enough connections throughout the university that people were always talking to me about the job market. I have not found the same kind of help in my post-grad studies. So, what will that mean for me? Well, I do have a few ideas about what direction I want to go in, but I have not officially decided. If I want to work in the field, I'll have to make a conscious effort to network. This could be a bumpy road. I think that my biggest
